

Dear Mr Fullerman,

You asked me to do exercises on English irregular verbs. I am writing this apology letter because I can't hand in my homework but I did do it! Let me explain... it's an incredible story! I was revising my irregular verbs in my garden, when a witch on her broom appeared and stole my homework. I tried to follow her, but she was so quick! She threw my homework away and it landed on the ground. I ran towards my homework but a dog followed me and I had to give my homework and he walked on my homework with his legs full of mud! I know I will have to do my homework again. I am so sorry! I don't want to go to detention. I promise I will be good now!

Tom Gates.
